

Guide to the Application : Inclusion into Area of Operations

The company has a defined Area of Operations, governed by the Water Management Act 2000 (NSW) and associated regulations. Murray Irrigation may only supply water within this defined area (with some exceptions), and has certain rights and obligations in relation to it.

Where a customer wishes to have water supplied to lands not within the Area of Operations, application must be made to have the lands included in the Area. This is controlled by the NSW Office of Water and takes some time to complete.

This application has no standalone effect and must accompany an application for a new landholding (form 29) or for addition of lands to an existing landholding (form 31).
