

Increase in Class C (General Security) allocation of 8 percent

Murray Irrigation this morning announced a Class C (General Security) allocation of eight (8) percent.

High security allocations in the NSW Murray Valley have also increased from 70 percent to 97 percent of entitlement, including stock and domestic and town water supply licences.

This improvement in water availability follows the announcement by the NSW Office of Water (NOW) earlier today.

This is the first General Security water allocation announcement for the season.

A copy of the NOW media release is available in the Water Resource Updates section of the Murray Irrigation website at www.murrayirrigation.com.au.

The table below is a summary of the water available to Murray Irrigation water entitlement holders.

Water Entitlement Class	Description	Allocation
Class A	Town Water Supply	97%
Class B	High Security Irrigation	97%
Class C	General Security	8%
Water efficiency distribution		0%
Carryover access		100%

The next allocation announcement will be made on 15 September.
