Water Security

Influence

Optimising yield on our water entitlements.

- > Optimise benefits of being above the Barmah Choke
- > Fully utilise the Mulwala Canal and other assets
- > Continue to insist that the rigours that apply to the management and compliance of productive water be applied to those charged with the delivery of operational and environmental water
- > Push for the pursuit of a more equitable north/south balance
- > Fully leverage the resource management policy
- > Focused, disciplined government relations and coordinated local, state and national advocacy

Water Attraction/Retention

Brand

Attracting and retaining water for our region.

- > Pursue an annual average productive water use target of not less than 800GL
- > Develop initiatives and products to help aspiring farmers to become established in the irrigation sector
- > Support and seek out investors interested in the region
- > Optimise the benefits and opportunities of the WEX
- > Create a strategy/mechanism to retain water entitlements that are at risk of leaving region
- > Establish MIL as a strong and valued brand within the community

Measure of success

Zero fatalities and life altering injuries. Financially sustainable over short and long term. Delivery entitlement value increasing (fees down and resource distribution up).

All water in the system being accounted for. System wide losses being minimised. Reliable season opening allocation.

Local landholder water entitlement volume increasing. Increasing net trade in of annual water allocation.
